Introduction

This document was prepared to help educators understand the Tennessee Comprehensive Program (TCAP) Achievement Test results, and it may be helpful when making important decisions regarding instructional needs for classes and individual students.

Each spring, Tennessee students in grades 3-8 take a timed, multiple-choice achievement test as part of the TCAP. The TCAP Achievement Test is a criterion-referenced test that has fresh, non-redundant test items and is customized yearly to measure academic skills and knowledge in Reading/Language Arts, Mathematics, Science, and Social Studies.

Criterion-referenced tests measure a student's performance against specific content standards or criteria, rather than compare the performance of test takers. Standards, as defined by the State of Tennessee, provide expectations for student accomplishment. From these expectations, performance indicators were written to describe how the expectations would be measured. On the TCAP Achievement Test, each test item is directly linked to a performance indicator. Performance indicators are clustered into reporting categories for the reports described in this document.

The Spring 2015 Achievement Tests were aligned with standards for Reading/Language Arts, Mathematics, and Science. For additional information on the Tennessee standards and what the student should be learning at his or her grade level, visit the Office of Assessment and Instruction website at <http://www.tn.gov/education/topic/academic-standards>.

Two different types of tests make up the TCAP Achievement Program: the Achievement (ACH) Test and the English Linguistically Simplified Assessment (ELSA).

1. The ACH is the general assessment for grades 3-8.
2. The ELSA is given to students who are eligible to receive English as a Second Language (ESL) services. The language for ELSA test items was simplified to help measure the intended knowledge or skill. The knowledge or skill being assessed was not simplified. ELSA items may have been simplified in one or more of the following ways:
 - Wordiness decreased
 - Concrete words used
 - Common words and simplest verb forms used
 - Sentence structure simplified
 - Words with multiple meanings avoided
 - Context simplified

TN has approved new standards for Social Studies curriculum. The TCAP Achievement Social Studies will be field tested in spring 2015. Operational testing will begin in the 2015-16 school year.

Understanding Quick Scores

Teachers have already seen their student's TCAP quick score included on their student's end-of-year report card. Quick scores convert a student's raw score on TCAP (the number of questions they answered correctly) into a measure on the 100-point grading scale. This is the typical grading scale used by teachers. Quick scores are only intended to be factored into a student's end of year grade, as required by law. They are not intended to be the primary window into a student's performance.

Each district can determine how quick scores should be incorporated into end-of-year-grades. Because quick scores may appear differently on report cards across the state, please reach out to your district to understand how the quick score was incorporated into student report cards.

It's important to note that quick scores are no longer tied to TCAP performance levels (i.e., below basic, basic, proficient, advanced), meaning that a quick score of 85 is not equivalent to the cut score for proficient.

For more information concerning quick scores, please visit: <http://www.tn.gov/education/topic/understanding-quick-scores>.

A variety of TCAP Achievement reports are available to educators via PearsonAccess. PearsonAccess is a secure website that requires a login and password. The chart below shows the report name, the target audience, and the distribution (e.g., teacher, school, system). The Achievement Test reports are posted on PearsonAccess at <http://www.pearsonaccess.com/cs/Satellite?pagename=Pearson/QuickLink/tn>.

Individual Profile Report (IPR)

The Individual Profile Report (IPR) is intended primarily for students and parents. The IPR provides information regarding a student's overall performance on the content area and in each reporting category. Reporting Category Performance Index (RCPI) results can be used to help identify areas of student strengths and needs in each reporting category. This report provides important information that can be used for instructional planning specific to the student, and it also provides a point of reference for the teacher during a parent-teacher conference.

- A States the student's name and identifying information.
- B Lists the reporting categories, which identify areas of student strengths and needs across different content areas of the test.
- C Symbolizes the student's Achievement Level in each reporting category.
- D Features the student's RCPI for each reporting category. The RCPI is an estimate of the number of items the student would be expected to answer correctly if there had been 100 such items for that category.
- E Displays a bar graph which represents how the student performed in each reporting category based on the RCPI. The graph allows you to see how close the student's score was to the next higher or lower performance level.

The diamond (◇) symbolizes the student's RCPI.

The bar (■) indicates the proficient range of the reporting category.

The line to the right and left of the student RCPI symbol (—) represents the range where the student would most likely score in a similar test experience.

- F Shows minimum RCPIs for Achievement Levels (cut scores shown are for display only).
- G Gives the student's scale score and overall Achievement Level for the test.
- H Provides information about knowledge and skills associated with the Achievement Levels.
