ELECTRICAL LICENSING INFORMATION

The Board for Licensing Contractors is responsible for regulating licensing in Tennessee for electrical work at various level; "Contractor" license (CE) and "Limited Licensed Electrician" (LLE). In addition, local government may also require licensing for permits and inspections, such as the journeyman/master. The Division of Fire Prevention (State Fire Marshal) is responsible for codes and inspections, therefore, their laws and rules cover more detail for electrical installations and inspections. Check their website at: <http://www.tn.gov/commerce/sfm/> The following describes each electrical license:

Contractor (CE)

This state license is required for electrical work where the total cost is $25,000 or more. The "CE" electrical classification is accepted statewide, and additional exams are not required in each county or municipality. However, you must adhere to their local permit and licensing rules within their jurisdiction and pay local fees. Contractors with a CE are exempt from the Limited Licensed Electrician (LLE) license, but still required to obtain permits, inspections and any applicable local licenses.

Limited Licensed Electrician (LLE)

This state license is only required for electricians where the total cost is LESS THAN $25,000 and for those working in a municipality where it is accepted in lieu of the local government codes enforcement. These areas may have permit "Issuing Agents" at the local utility office. The Division of Fire Protection performs these inspections. Those with a contractor's license with a CE classification are exempt from the LLE; but not exempt from local license requirements and inspections. There are no out-of-state reciprocal (exam waiver) agreements for the LLE.

Local License (City/County from each Municipality)

The local license is required regardless of the amount of the project, in areas with a local codes enforcement office issuing permits. This type of licensing is typically referred to as journeyman/master, etc. Every jurisdiction is different, and you must adhere to their local requirements. Areas without a local codes office have "Issuing Agents" for permits and inspections. If you have a state contractor's CE license, you will not be required to take their local electrical exam, but will need to pay their fees and obtain permits for inspections. The LLE is not accepted where the local jurisdiction has their own licensing and inspections program in place. Local government contacts are available at: <http://tn.gov/local/>

Summary - See § T.C.A. § 62-6-111(2), 62-6-130, 131, and 132

- An LLE exam from PSI Exams Services, LLC is required to obtain a LLE license. Preapproval and experience is not required to take the exam. There are no continuing education requirements. (LLE exam is NOT comparable to the journeyman/master.)
- The LLE license fee is $50.00 and will expire biennially (two years) on the last day of the month of issuance.
- An LLE is limited to projects less than $25,000 and cannot split projects or contracts into phases to circumvent the law.
- LLE's are prohibited from using the term "contractor" or advertise as an "electrical contractor".
- Those performing work in EXCESS OF $25,000 must be licensed as an electrical CONTRACTOR with a "CE" classification (or "E" if licensed prior to 1992), and with a monetary limit designated to cover each project.
- Renewal fee is $50; late fee is $10 for each month, up to three (3) months.
- Reinstatement of a license expired more than three (3) months must file a new application with a nonrefundable $50 new application fee and $30 late penalty fee = $80. Those who have never passed the LLE exam may complete the exam waiver request; however, these require Board approval. (Please see the "Public Meeting Calendar" on our website for schedule.)
- Fees by check or money order, payable to: "Contractors Board – LLE"

Address Changes

Should you have an address change, please notify us in writing by fax, mail or email at: Linda.Ford@tn.gov prior to renewing license.

You may check the license issuance status at our website or at the direct link for the department at: <http://verify.tn.gov/>

Laws & Rules

Be sure to check our website or contact our office for current laws, rules and regulations for licensing. The statute for electrical installation, codes and inspection requirements are governed by the Division of Fire Protection and their website is at: <http://www.tn.gov/commerce/sfm/> Their law is pursuant T.C.A. Title 68, Part 102. The LLE licensing law and rules may be reviewed from the Board's website.

Issuing Agents - Permit Requirements

- Issuing agents may accept the "Limited Licensed Electrician (LLE)" license to permit projects less than $25,000. Projects cannot be split into phases. Note: The LLE license is not accepted by all municipalities.
- Issuing agents may issue permits to "Contractors" with an electrical (CE or E) classification on their contractor's license. These licenses are also assigned a monetary limit which must cover the total project.
- There are NO state reciprocal agreements; out-of-state electricians and contractors must obtain a Tennessee license.
