

Su Casa Family Ministries is a place of safety and connection for both the Latino immigrant community and the broader Memphis community by creating a safe place to learn together in God's grace. They do this through their two main programs: Adult English and Early Childhood Programs, combined with their extensive referral network with the Community Services team that helps families connect to valuable resources in Memphis - like health, housing, and legal assistance. Their programs are ways for families, parents, children, and neighbors to connect organically with the broader community. Su Casa works to create a place where Latino immigrant neighbors can learn, grow, and pursue their self-determined goals. Their theory of change is that when whole families from across the city connect, that is when neighborhoods are lifted, communities are strengthened, and their city becomes its best. Su Casa seeks to partner with families in their community to improve their economic, health, and general well-being.
