

I agree some people can realize that it is just a game or movies but, some others don't realize that. It shouldn't taken away for those who respect the law. Those who don't respect the law shouldn't have the right to have that privilege. It really depends on the person and how they act after watching movies or playing video games.

Score Point: 1

This response reflects fundamental deficiencies in persuasive writing skills. The position that it depends on the people and how they act after watching movies or playing videos is acceptable; however, no relevant details are provided to support this idea.
