

Spiderman the hero.

One day I woke up and I was spiderman. There was spiderwebs all over my room. I flew to school and use my powers for good only by rescuing people and flew across towns and states and went to visit my mom and dad and grandma and Uncle and went to disney world. Then I went to the fair and rode the roller coasters. It was exciting and I flew off.
Being spiderman was awesome.

G-6Score Point: 2

This response reflects flawed proficiency in narrative writing skills. The writer addresses the prompt and provides some general details about being Spiderman. Word usage errors, weak organization, and very little development prevent the response from earning a higher score.
