

If I had a time capsule, I would put three items into it. I would put a flag in it. Another item I would put into the capsule is a quarter. The last item I would put in the capsule is a bible.

The flag represents the United States of America. The stars on the flag means the fifty states. In school, kids pledge the flag. The red and white on the flag means the thirteen colonies.

Money represents our society by it is what we use to purchase things. Money has some of our former presidents on them. For example the one dollar bill has George Washington and the quarter. George Washington is also on the penny.

The bible is another item I would put into the capsule. God, who we worshiper wrote it. There are a bunch of different religions that worship him and read the bible.

G-10*Score Point: 3

This response reflects limited proficiency in expository writing skills. The writer chooses three items (a flag, a quarter, and a Bible) to be placed in a time capsule and cites several reasons to support each selection. The response is organized but lacks a conclusion. Errors in word usage do not impede meaning. Inadequate development of the key ideas prevents the response from earning a higher score.
