

Current Happenings in the Northwest

Current Area of Focus:

DCS staff have been working to track the number of crisis calls from families that occur in the region. Regional staff also have partnered with the Department of Mental Health & Substance Abuse to conduct an assessment of available crisis services. Work has been done to resolve the issues discovered in the assessment and to ensure that families in crisis are visited face-to-face, rather than the worker conducting phone triage. This has led to improved services for families and increased quality relationships with the professionals in the region.
