

Tennessee Methamphetamine Initiative for Child Advocacy Centers (METH) Statistics Summary FY2010 / FY2011 / FY2012

Methamphetamine use and production have placed a great strain on social services agencies and have created major problems for families throughout Tennessee. In increasing numbers, children of methamphetamine producers have become victimized by the illegal manufacture and use of this substance. Children are living in conditions that can cause serious health problems, even death. In addition, children may be subjected to fires and explosions, abuse and neglect, a hazardous lifestyle, social problems, and other risks.

Through state funding, Tennessee awards grants to 13 child advocacy centers in order to provide services to drug-endangered children and the non-offending parent/family member.
