

BOARD POLICY ON THE EMPLOYMENT OF UNLICENSED X-RAY TECHNICIANS AND/OR UNLICENSED THERAPY ASSISTANTS

A chiropractor who employs unlicensed x-ray technicians and/or unlicensed therapy assistants is subject to a civil penalty of one thousand dollars ($1,000.) per such employee.

Upon receiving notice of such a civil penalty, the following must occur in order to prevent additional disciplinary action against the chiropractor for the continued employment of that unlicensed x-ray technician or therapy assistant:

- The unlicensed employee in question must:
 - in the case of an x-ray technician, complete the required course within one hundred eighty (180) days;
 - or, in the case of a therapy assistant, complete the required course within sixty (60) days;

and

- The unlicensed employee in question must complete the required internship within one year from completion of the required course.

May 10, 2007