

THE EMS COMPLAINT/ INVESTIGATION PROCESS

WHEN TO FILE A COMPLAINT

Tennessee has a high quality prehospital Emergency Medical Services (EMS) and medical transportation system. A large majority of licensed EMS personnel and ambulance services are competent and caring providers.

However, when a problem is experienced with an EMS provider, you have the right to file a complaint. If you believe that a provider's performance or professional behavior is not acceptable, you can file a complaint with the EMS Office.

STATE RESPONSIBILITIES

The EMS Office tests and licenses EMS personnel (EMRs, EMTs, AEMTs, Paramedics and EMDs) and ambulance services under state law and the rules of the State EMS Board. A related responsibility is reviewing and investigating complaints that allege violations of the law or rules.

When the investigation is completed and a determination is made by the EMS Office and an EMS Board representative that a significant violation has occurred, disciplinary action will be pursued. If the provider wishes to appeal such action he/she may request a contested case hearing before the EMS Board. The Board will hear the case and then make a decision on the matter, including any disciplinary action warranted if the respondent is found guilty of the violation(s) charged.

While the Department cannot assist you with civil or criminal matters, and does not represent you as an individual, EMS law allows the department to act on behalf of the people of Tennessee at large. The law gives the department and Board the power to control a provider's ability to practice in the state of Tennessee, but cannot levy criminal penalties or civil damages. Any person seeking to recover fees or monetary remedies for injuries should consult an attorney regarding those matters. The State of Tennessee has no jurisdiction over these types of situations.

FILING A COMPLAINT

While we hope that you will never have to file a complaint against an EMS provider, doing so is a simple matter. Please read the attached form carefully and fill it out. You are also requested, if you were the patient, to complete and sign a "Medical Records Release Form". While the form may not always be used, it is helpful to have this form in the event records are needed to determine course of treatment or actions that have been taken with regard to care provided. All materials received in connection with the complaint will become property of the Department of Health and cannot be returned.

Please return the complaint to:

TN Department of Health
Office of Emergency Medical Services
665 Mainstream Drive
Nashville, TN 37243
Attn: Complaint Intake

RESULTS

When a decision is finally reached, you will receive a letter from the EMS Office. The content of such letters varies depending upon the circumstances of the complaint, however, they are generally one of the following types.

- (1) There was no violation of the Practice Act that would lead to disciplinary action, but the practitioner has been informed of any concerns determined by the investigation.
- (2) There was a violation of the Practice Act and a formal disciplinary action was taken, made part of the public record, and reported statewide and to the national data bank.

The Department of Health takes all complaints seriously and insures that a thorough and fair evaluation under law is conducted.

ISSUES NOT WITHIN DEPARTMENT/BOARD AUTHORITY

- Fees and/or Billing disputes (Amounts charged for services, overcharges, etc.)
- Insurance Matters (unless it deals with fraud by an EMS provider)

For these concerns you should contact the Tennessee Consumer Insurance Services Division at 1-800-342-4029.

II. PART B

INSTRUCTIONS TO EMPLOYERS REPORTING PERSONNEL VIOLATING THE EMS PRACTICE ACT

Delays can be minimized when employers submit the supporting documentation along with the complaint. If, for whatever reason, that is not feasible, the employer should have all of the appropriate documentation at hand so that it can be provided to the investigators from the Office of Emergency Medical Services.

The EMS disciplinary process is guided by strict legal requirements. It is absolutely imperative that supporting documentation be provided in every disciplinary case. It is unlikely that an employer would take disciplinary action without documentation to support the decision. The same documentation is important to this agency in pursuing disciplinary action.

In cases of a drug screen done for cause: Please submit the laboratory report itself and the chain of custody form. We also need the documentation that formed the basis of the “cause” for the drug screen.

In cases of a positive, random drug screen: Please submit the laboratory report itself and the chain of custody form.

In cases of suspected drug theft: If an employer or provider discovers errors in administering or stocking controlled substances or legend drugs, we require the specific records for each occasion or discrepancy. The patient report form, copies of the physician’s orders, and any controlled drug administration record or drug inventory record are required. In making copies of these documents, please assure that the document copies “from margin to margin” and does not cut-off important information.

In cases of suspected theft, or the misuse of medical devices: Please submit a narrative report of the suspected occurrence, any police reports of the theft of items or major equipment, and any patient care reports that might be related to the incident.

In cases of false reports: Provide certified copies of the documents that were falsified. Please do not highlight the fraudulent entry, but you may affix post-it notes. In cases where an act or procedure was recorded but was not performed, please provide another document to show the absence of the proper record entry.

Witness Statements: In many cases, written statements by other employees who witnessed all or part of an occurrence are important since these same individuals might be called upon to testify at a formal hearing. Please ensure that these statements are properly identified as to the author, the date the statement was written, and that they are legible and complete copies (margin to margin). An accompanying cover letter summarizing the documents described herein should also identify these possible witnesses by full name, address and job title, and professional license credentials.

Documentation in these cases may vary somewhat according to the service or facility as well as the circumstances. The description of documents may also vary in title or form, but should provide the same generic information.
